Amusements in Brooklyn

A play now to Brooklyn, but famous elsewhere, will be presented at Col. Sine's Park Theatre this week.

A. H. Palmer's Madison Square company will be seen in "Aunt Jack."

Full of fun and presented by competent artists the farce will doubtless be well received at the Park. A Man of the World will also be played.

Holmes's Star H. H. C. will be the visitor for the week, and his return to Brooklyn after a long absence will be welcome.

The popularity enjoyed by him when he was in the "Man of the World" has not died out, and to see a similar but better part in the "Man of the World" will be the privilege of a matinee audience. The theme admits of a comedy. A good company supports

Mr. Curtis, and the singing of a number of new songs will brighten up the entertainment.

The week of "Aunt Jack," of Palmer's Madison Square company will be seen in "Aunt Jack."
